ARTIST

BIO

Daizie Darker is an independent Pop/Rock artist hailing from Philadelphia, PA. With a captivating blend of dark and sultry tones, Daizie offers her listeners a truly unforgettable emotional journey. Often described as "soul-fed pop," her music draws inspiration from the influential female powerhouses of the 90s and early 2000s, including Whitney Houston, Celine Dion, and Kelly Clarkson.

Daizie's passion for music ignited at the tender age of 3, when she serenaded her family of nine with a self-composed song about daisies, effectively trapping them at the kitchen table. Since then, her love for singing has remained an unwavering companion. Growing up in San Antonio, TX, Daizie honed her craft through various avenues, from children's choirs and singing competitions to a performing artist high school.

Her vocal coach, Darrin Newhardt, played an instrumental role in unleashing her vocal range using musical theater techniques. As Darrin once said, "If you want to learn how to sing, learn showtunes. They will teach you EVERYTHING."

In 2015, Daizie attended Berklee College of Music, after which she relocated to Utah and commenced work on her debut EP album, "Keep the Change" which she released under her first alias, BENZ.

Daizie Darker has graced the stages of renowned venues including The Velour, Kung Fu Necktie, and The Grape Room. Her latest single, "THERAPIST," is now available on all major streaming platforms.
